- Enhance wildlife populations and/or their habitats,
- Contribute to the long-term well-being of Alberta's wildlife populations,
- Increase the efficiency of wildlife conservation efforts by maximizing the use of technology and innovation,
- Prioritize an identified information need or research gap for action, and
- Enhance the understanding of the human dimensions of wildlife conservation.

Projects should be relevant to the needs and concerns of Alberta hunters and outfitters and relate to a big game or bird game species for which for which hunting is permitted. The 2024 Priority Species for APOS are mule deer, moose, and whitetail, but projects relating to other species will also be considered. APOS is seeking projects that have lasting benefits for wildlife in Alberta, are broadly relevant at a provincial scale, have clear performance metrics, and foster positive relationships with consumptive users and the broader public.
